Si-o-se-pol (The Bridge of 33 Arches), Isfahan, Iran

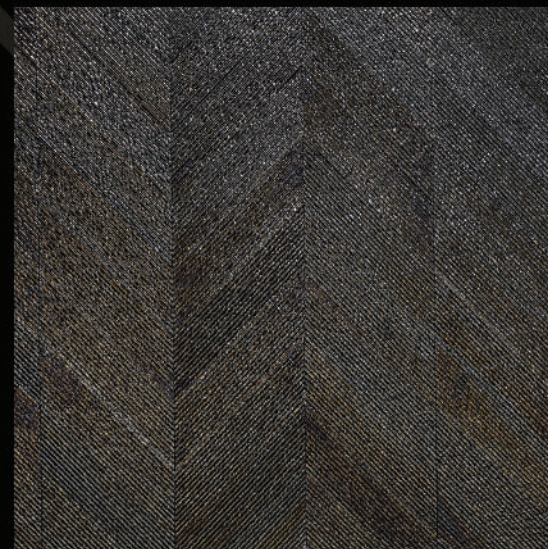

Si-o-se-pol, also known as the Allahverdi Khan Bridge, is one of the most famous historical bridges in Isfahan, Iran. It was commissioned by Shah Abbas I of the Safavid dynasty and built between 1599 and 1602 under the supervision of his chancellor, Allahverdi Khan. The bridge is made of bricks, is 295 meters long, and features 33 arches, giving it its popular name. Si-o-se-pol is not only an architectural masterpiece of Safavid engineering but also a cultural symbol, often associated with gatherings, poetry readings, and celebrations throughout history.
